New/Existing/Updating/Amending: New

Name: Mike Ingram

Job Title: Head of Housing and Building services services

1. What are the objectives of the Policy?

The Violence against Women, Domestic Abuse and Sexual Violence Act (Wales) 2015 laid out a requirement for local authorities and Health Boards to jointly prepare regional strategies to tackle violence against women, domestic abuse and sexual violence (VAWDASV). In recognising the national strategic direction, the regional strategy sets out an overarching vision and high level aims as follows:

Vision:

People who live, work and visit Cardiff and the Vale of Glamorgan have the opportunity to live positive, independent lives without being affected by violence and abuse.

Aims:

Aim 1 - PREPARE

Improve strategic planning and commissioning of VAWDASV services through a more coordinated partnership approach across the region.

Aim 2 - PURSUE

Address perpetrators of VAWDASV by improving intelligence sharing across services and the use of legal powers to disrupt and convict.

Aim 3 - PREVENT

Pro-actively address negative attitudes and behaviours that have the potential to result in VAWDASV, recognising this as everyone's business.

Aim 4 - PROTECT

Improve the multi-agency response and support to all victims and their children regardless of risk level and needs.

Aim 5 - SUPPORT

Ensure that innovative, flexible and evidence-based services are available to meet the needs of victims experiencing any form of VAWDASV.

2. Please provide background information on the Policy / Strategy / Project / Procedure / Service / Function and any research done [e.g. service users data against demographic statistics, similar EIAs done etc.]

Background

1. 2. Violence against women, domestic abuse and sexual violence is a fundamental violation of human rights, and both a cause and consequence of inequality. Tackling violence against women, domestic abuse and sexual violence (VAWDASV) has far-reaching consequences for women, men, families, children, communities and society as a whole. Tackling these enduring social problems requires a distinct and proportionate approach in order that everyone can live fear free in safe, equal and violence free communities.
2. The Violence against Women, Domestic Abuse and Sexual Violence Act (Wales) 2015 laid out a requirement for local authorities and Health Boards to jointly prepare regional strategies to tackle VAWDASV.
3. The Welsh Government has set out in its national strategy following the Act, an objective to provide victims with access to “holistic, appropriately resourced, high quality, needs led, strength based, gender responsive services across Wales.” The Act now places a wider duty to support those experience all forms of violence against women, domestic abuse and sexual violence including male victims and perpetrators of abuse.
4. The regional VAWDASV strategy recognises that anyone (women, men, children and young people) can experience and be affected, it addresses violence and abuse directed towards women, men, girls and boys and violence and abuse perpetrated by men and women. It acknowledges that it can happen in any relationship regardless of sex, age, ethnicity, gender, sexuality, disability, religion or belief, income, geography or lifestyle. However it is acknowledged that women and girls are disproportionately affected by domestic abuse, rape and sexual violence, sexual exploitation (including through the sex industry), modern day slavery, forced marriage, female genital mutilation, child sexual exploitation and abuse, stalking and sexual harassment.
5. Cardiff Council has recently undertaken an EIA in relation to the commissioning process to procure a new female victim specialist service. This service was successfully awarded and the contract began implementation on 1st April 2018. Atal Y Fro Domestic Violence Service currently provide specialist services in the Vale off Glamorgan A male victim service is currently being considered by regional partners to commence in April 2019.
6. Welsh Government has also required a move to regional working on VAWDASV in terms of a national approach towards regional funding and commissioning. Cardiff and the Vale of Glamorgan have agreed to operate as a region for this purpose due to a shared Health Board footprint, natural travel to work patterns, service access migrations for residents across the area, and the pre-existence of a number of regional services and policies.

3 Assess Impact on the Protected Characteristics

3.1 Age

Will this Policy / Strategy / Project / Procedure / Service / Function have a differential impact [positive / negative] on younger / older people?

	Yes	No	N/A
Up to 18 years	✓
18 - 65 years		✓
Over 65 years	✓

Please give details/consequences of the differential impact, and provide supporting evidence, if any.

Around 1 in 5 children have been exposed to domestic abuse and 1 in 3 children who have witnessed domestic abuse will have also been subject to other forms of abuse, including sexual abuse (NSPCC 2011). They are 6 times more likely to commit suicide as a result of abuses experienced, and 24 times more likely to commit sexual assault (Hafan Cymru 2015). In Wales during 2014-15, there were 205 cases of rape perpetrated against girls under the age of 13 in Wales (NSPCC).

Article 19 of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child makes it clear that children and young people have the basic human right to dignity. This means they have the right to be protected from all forms of physical or mental violence, injury or abuse, neglect or negligent treatment, maltreatment or exploitation, including sexual abuse, while in the care of parent(s), legal guardian(s) or any other person who has the care of the child. Witnessing violence against women, domestic abuse or sexual violence is also therefore a breach of their rights.

It is estimated that over 40,000 older people in Wales are being abused in their own homes every year. For some, such abuse will have been a significant feature for most of their adult lives, an on-going problem for 20, 30 and 40 years or even longer (Older people's Commissioner for Wales 2015). This is often further complicated when there are caring responsibilities in the relationship between the victim and the perpetrator of the abuse. Often the abuse only begins when the couple have retired and are spending much more time together alone at home. Older victims are less likely to leave abusive relationships than younger people. Whereas more than two-thirds of victims aged under 60 left their abuser in the year before seeking help, this applied to barely a quarter of older people. A third of victims over 60 were still living with their abuser while seeking help, compared with just 9% of younger victims (Safe Lives).

What action(s) can you take to address the differential impact?

For those aged under 16 who have witnessed or experienced any form of violence against women, domestic abuse or sexual violence, all partners, whether in the statutory or third sector, are fully compliant with safeguarding responsibilities under child protection arrangements. For those aged under 16 who are accompanying their parent/guardian into services, they will also have their needs assessed and appropriate tailored services offered. For all children and young people, a range of age-appropriate therapeutic interventions can be delivered. Specifically for those aged 0-5, there is dedicated provision funded through Flying Start and Families First.

It is acknowledged that close working between the Regional Safeguarding Children Board and the wider VAWDASV governance structure needs to be strengthened. This will be facilitated through shared training resources and regular input into each other's review of policies and procedures and for cross-cutting issues such as Child Practice Reviews and Domestic Homicide Reviews.

Again, working closely with the Regional Adult Safeguarding Board, the needs of older people who have or are experiencing any form of violence against women, domestic abuse or sexual violence can be managed in a collaborative way. Issues of dementia and caring responsibilities can greatly affect relationship and care needs to be taken to assess and support older people.

Provision for equality and diversity will be a key criteria in ongoing performance monitoring of all partners to ensure that no groups are unduly disadvantaged or impacted.

3.2 Disability

Will this Policy / Strategy / Project / Procedure / Service / Function have a differential impact [negative] on disabled people?

Research suggests that those with disabilities are more likely to suffer domestic violence and sexual assault than those without disabilities (Liverpool John Moores University’s Centre for Public Health, a WHO Collaborating Centre for Violence Prevention, and WHO’s Department of Violence and Injury Prevention and Disability, July 2012.) Also those with disabilities report abuse that lasts longer and is more intense than those without disabilities. Like other victims, those with disabilities usually are abused by someone they know, such as a partner or family member. In addition, those with disabilities face the risk of abuse by health care providers or caregivers. Caregivers can withhold medicine and assistive devices, such as wheelchairs or braces. They can also refuse to help with daily needs like bathing, dressing, or eating.

The systematic review on violence against adults with disabilities, published in February 2012, found that overall they are 1.5 times more likely to be a victim of violence than those without a disability, while those with mental health conditions are at nearly four times the risk of experiencing violence. Factors which place people with disabilities at higher risk of violence include stigma, discrimination, and ignorance about disability, as well as a lack of social support for those who care for them. Placement of people with disabilities in institutions also increases their vulnerability to violence. In these settings and elsewhere, people with communication impairments are hampered in their ability to disclose abusive experiences.

What action(s) can you take to address the differential impact?

As part of the process of commissioning services to support victims, the issue of ensuring equitable access to services, especially information and advice and in accommodation-based support settings is of paramount importance. This includes being able to respond to enquiries in a number of ways over and above telephone and drop-in access, some of which may be more accessible to those with disabilities including webchat, Skype and via a professional referral from a service they are already engaged with. Services also work closely together to ensure referral and service pathways into other specialist support such as mental health and substance misuse services. Provision is made for current available units of accommodation-based support to be suitable for those with disabilities.

Provision for equality and diversity will be a key criteria in ongoing performance monitoring of all partners to ensure that no groups are unduly disadvantaged or impacted.

3.3 Gender Reassignment

Will this Policy / Strategy / Project / Procedure / Service / Function have a differential impact [positive] on transgender people?

	Yes	No	N/A
Transgender People (People who are proposing to undergo, are undergoing, or have undergone a process [or part of a process] to reassign their sex by changing physiological or other attributes of sex)	✓

Please give details/consequences of the differential impact, and provide supporting evidence, if any.

There is limited research on how many transgender people experience abuse in the UK, and the best studies have small group samples. However, these figures suggest it is a significant issue. A report by the Scottish Transgender Alliance indicates that 80% of trans people had experienced emotional, sexual, or physical abuse from a partner or ex-partner.

Abuse can be as a result of the process of 'coming out' perpetrated by partners, family members or friends. This is especially difficult where there are children involved.

What action(s) can you take to address the differential impact?

Those who have undergone, or are undergoing, gender reassignment can access the full range of preventative, protective and support services available in this region. Specialist service providers are required to have clear policies and procedures in place for managing transgender victims, especially in shared accommodation-based settings and in any group work – both in terms of keeping the victim safe and managing any impact. Where necessary, dispersed accommodation can be used to ensure additional safety.

Provision for equality and diversity will be a key criteria in ongoing performance monitoring of all partners to ensure that no groups are unduly disadvantaged or impacted.

Pregnancy	✓
Maternity	✓

Please give details/consequences of the differential impact, and provide supporting evidence, if any.

Pregnancy when coupled with domestic abuse or sexual violence is a form of intimate partner violence (IPV) where health risks may be amplified. Abuse during pregnancy, whether physical, sexual, verbal or emotional, produces many adverse physical and psychological effects for both the mother and foetus. It increases the risk of miscarriage, infection, premature birth, low birth weight, foetal injury and foetal death (Refuge website). Such impacts on the mother can also affect their ability to appropriately feed, care for and form a positive attachment to the newborn baby. Over a third of domestic violence starts or gets worse when a woman is pregnant (Refuge website). More than 30% of this abuse starts in pregnancy, and existing abuse may get worse during pregnancy or after giving birth (NHS website).

What action(s) can you take to address the differential impact?

Within Cardiff and the Vale of Glamorgan is a funded service to specifically address the provision of violence against women, domestic abuse and sexual violence that is impacting on a victim's own wellbeing and on their capacity to form positive attachments and effectively parent their children. The service will support those who are or have recently been pregnant or have children aged 0-5 years and it works with Health Visitors through Flying Start and a variety of Families First funded services, especially the Early Help Front Door service. This model could be replicated across the region.

The Health-based IDVA can support those who are pregnant and are experiencing VAWDASV both on-site in hospital settings or elsewhere in the community. Those who are pregnant are also discussed at MARAC meetings as they have a higher risk of further abuse.

Provision for equality and diversity will be a key criteria in ongoing performance monitoring of all partners to ensure that no groups are unduly disadvantaged or impacted.

BME men, women and children's experience of violence can be shaped by their relationship to 'culture'- this can define their experiences of violence and abuse; their relationship with 'communities' (including gypsies and travellers), and their access to services and the types of services they made need or want. Additional barriers to support may be experienced by BME people due to the impact of discrimination, racism and immigration status. Partners acknowledge the need for specialist support for BME people relating to prevention, protection and support informed by expert understanding of specific needs of BME men, women and children experiencing violence against women, domestic abuse and sexual violence.

What action(s) can you take to address the differential impact?

Identifies need for sensitive and appropriate services for all victims but specifically for those from a BME background who may experience additional barriers that may affect their ability to seek help and support and may have additional needs. Highlights that provision of language support for other minority languages should also be facilitated.

Delivery of all preventative, protective and support services in the region offers help to those of any race, providing sensitive and appropriate services for all victims but specifically from those from a BME background who may face additional issues. Specialist services in the region are responsive to the individual differences presented by victims and tailor services accordingly, including in the range of languages spoken by staff.

Provision for equality and diversity will be a key criteria in ongoing performance monitoring of all partners to ensure that no groups are unduly disadvantaged or impacted.

A victim's religious or spiritual beliefs can be central to their understanding and response to abuse. A victim's own faith and the support of other faith-based members can be key to helping the healing process, while a lack of understanding regarding the religious perspective on abusive relationships by the victim or those they may turn to for spiritual guidance and support can add to the emotional, physical and financial hurdles already faced. Many victims in abusive relationships can feel they ought to submit to their spouses out of duty, that they have no right over their own body, life or even opinions. Quite often this misconception is furthered by advice from clergy, elders, rabbis or other members of the congregation.

However for those who do find some comfort in attending their usual place of spiritual or religious guidance, there is often the impediment of being accommodated in a place of safety far removed from their local community or needing to avoid the recognition of local community members and seeking solace elsewhere.

What action(s) can you take to address the differential impact?

All partners delivering any form of preventative, protective or supportive service are responsive to the individual differences presented by victims of any religious belief and tailor services accordingly. Where necessary, individual actions regarding religious observation can be included and facilitated through individual support plans and the provision of prayer rooms in emergency/crisis accommodation. Provision for equality and diversity will be a key criteria in ongoing performance monitoring of all partners to ensure that no groups are unduly disadvantaged or impacted.

3.8 Sex

Will this Policy / Strategy / Project / Procedure / Service / Function have a differential impact [positive / negative] on men and/or women?

	Yes	No	N/A
Men	✓
Women	✓

Please give details/consequences of the differential impact, and provide supporting evidence, if any.

Violence against women, also known as gender-based violence, is, collectively, violent acts that are primarily or exclusively committed against women. Sometimes considered a hate crime this type of violence targets a specific group with the victim's gender as a primary motive, meaning that the acts of violence are committed against women expressly because they are women. The UN Declaration on the Elimination of Violence Against Women states that "violence against women is a manifestation of historically unequal power relations between men and women" and that "violence against women is one of the crucial social mechanisms by which women are forced into a subordinate position compared with men." Kofi Annan, Secretary-General of the United Nations, declared in a 2006 report posted on the United Nations Development Fund for Women (UNIFEM) website that "violence against women and girls is a problem of pandemic proportions. At least one out of every three women around the world has been beaten, coerced into sex, or otherwise abused in her lifetime with the abuser usually someone known to her."

It is estimated that around 3 million women across the UK experience rape, domestic violence, forced marriage, stalking, trafficking and sexual exploitation and other forms of violence every year. This is the equivalent to the entire population of Wales (Report to the Secretary General 2006). Approximately 69,000 women in the UK are victims of rape or attempted rape each year (Crime Survey of England and Wales 2013/14). 1 in 5 women in the UK have experienced some form of sexual violence since the age of 16 (Crime Survey of England and Wales, 2013/14). Approximately 90% of those who are raped know the perpetrator prior to the offence (Crime Survey of England and Wales, 2013). Around one third of all violent crime is 'domestic incident' related (Home Office). Women are also far more likely than men to be killed specifically by partners/ex-partners - 44% of female victims compared with 6% of male victims (Office of National Statistics 2016).

Although it is acknowledged that women are disproportionately affected by all forms of violence and abuse, men are also victims whether the abuse is perpetrated by a female or a male. It is estimated that in 2010/11 up to 1.2 million women and 800,000 men were victims of domestic abuse (7% and 5% of the population respectively). (Crime Survey for England and Wales). While the Crime Survey collects data on victims, it does not collate information on those who perpetrate crimes. However, in the area of domestic abuse, Scotland collects information on both the "abuser" and the "abused". Since 2002 Scotland's police forces have been producing gender-specific data. From the Scottish Executive's most recent statistics, in 2011/12 there were 59,847 incidents of domestic abuse. In 9,569 incidents (17% of the total) a man had been abused by a woman. We can compare this with the 659 incidents in which the victim and the perpetrator were both male (1% of the total).

What action(s) can you take to address the differential impact?

All services in the region are required to be informed by a gendered understanding of violence against women, domestic abuse and sexual violence to reflect the Violence Against Women, Domestic Abuse and Sexual Violence (Wales) 2015 Act.

Within Cardiff, a specialist service for female victims has been procured following consultation with survivors. This service will deliver a One-Stop-Shop service, accommodation-based support and a range of community-based support services. In the Vale of Glamorgan, their specialist service provider delivers a more family oriented service, delivering perpetrator and wrap-around programmes with targeted interventions to support members of the whole family. Ongoing regional working will allow monitoring of these services and replication across the region through joint commissioning processes. Initially, consideration is being given to commissioning a male victim’s service; this is being explored between Cardiff and the Vale of Glamorgan and other South Wales local authority partners.

Provision for equality and diversity will be a key criteria in ongoing performance monitoring of all partners to ensure that no groups are unduly disadvantaged or impacted.

3.9 Sexual Orientation

	Yes	No	N/A
Bisexual	✓

Please give details/consequences of the differential impact, and provide supporting evidence, if any.

Women and men can be abused by former heterosexual partners or family members; perhaps after they have come out for the first time and enter their first same-sex relationship. In some cases, abusers will use the process of ‘coming out’ as an additional form of control. This is especially difficult where there are children involved.

Stonewall’s research into the health needs of lesbian and bisexual women, Prescription for Change, has found:

- One in four lesbians and bisexual women have experienced domestic abuse in a relationship. Two thirds of those say the perpetrator was a woman, a third a man.
- One in four of the general female population has experienced domestic abuse
- Four in ten (39%) lesbians and bisexual women with a disability have experienced domestic abuse in a relationship.
- More than four in ten (44%) lesbians and bisexual women who have experienced domestic abuse experienced this for more than one year

Stonewall's Gay and Bisexual Men's Health Survey demonstrates that:

- Half (49%) of all gay and bisexual men have experienced at least one incident of domestic abuse from a family member or partner since the age of 16.
- One in six (17%) men in general have experienced domestic abuse from a family member or partner since the age of 16
- Almost two-thirds (63%) of gay and bisexual men with a disability have experienced at least one incident of domestic abuse from a family member or partner since the age of 16.
- More than one in three (37%) gay and bisexual men have experienced at least one incident of domestic abuse in a relationship with a man.
- Almost one in four (23%) gay and bisexual men have experienced at least one incident of domestic abuse from a family member.
- 7% of gay and bisexual men have experienced at least one incident of domestic abuse from a woman, 39% of these experienced some form of physical violence.
- Four in ten (41%) gay and bisexual men who have experienced domestic abuse experienced this for more than a year.

What action(s) can you take to address the differential impact?

The region has a specialist LGBT IDVA service operated by Victim Support. However, numbers of all victims who are LGBT remain low and there is a need to widen awareness that all services are inclusive. Partners recognise a need to engage more with representative organisations.

Provision for equality and diversity will be a key criteria in ongoing performance monitoring of all partners to ensure that no groups are unduly disadvantaged or impacted.

3.10 Welsh Language

Will this Policy / Strategy / Project / Procedure / Service / Function have a differential impact [positive / negative] on Welsh Language?

	Yes	No	N/A
Welsh Language		✓

Please give details/consequences of the differential impact, and provide supporting evidence, if any.

Victims, as with anyone else, should be able to express a language preference when contacting or working with services.

What action(s) can you take to address the differential impact?

For all those approaching services for help, the need to facilitate responses to initial enquiries in the Welsh language and to ensure that all publicity materials are bilingual, is essential. This is obligatory for all public services but the response of third sector services is proportionate, depending on the level of service being delivered.

Provision for equality and diversity will be a key criteria in ongoing performance monitoring of all partners to ensure that no groups are unduly disadvantaged or impacted.

4. Consultation and Engagement

What arrangements have been made to consult/engage with the various Equalities Groups?

A number of key partners took part in the development of the strategy; a Regional Strategy Development Group was established, comprising senior officers from both Cardiff and Vale of Glamorgan Councils, Health, each of South Wales Police's Basic Command Units, Officers representing the South Wales Police and Crime Commissioner and both the Cardiff and Vale Domestic and Sexual Abuse Coordinators. The Group was responsible for developing the vision and aims and detailing the scope and structure of the document. The chapter on Pursue was felt to be an important factor in acknowledging that there wouldn't be any victims without perpetrators, and tackling this issue was just as important as protecting and supporting victims. The Regional Strategy Development Group was fortunate to have two representatives from the Welsh Women's Aid's SEEdS project (Survivors Empowering and Educating Services) join them. Input from survivors in this way has been extremely beneficial and influential in shaping the direction of the strategy document and in helping to sharpen its contents.

The strategy was circulated widely for consultation on 19th March for 8 weeks. A 'strategy on a page' version was circulated alongside the full document so that staff within partner organisations could get a sense of what was being addressed. A further version of the 'strategy on a page' was produced for the public and circulated via Facebook and Twitter.
